Coimisiún na Scrúduithe Stáit
State Examinations Commission

LEAVING CERTIFICATE EXAMINATION, 2021

HISTORY - HIGHER LEVEL

FIELD OF STUDY: EARLY MODERN, 1492-1815

Written examination: 300 marks

WEDNESDAY, 16 JUNE – AFTERNOON, 2.00-4.50

Instructions to candidates:

- Section 1 (100 marks)

Documents-based question (Europe and the wider world: Topic 2)
Answer all parts of this section.

- Section 2 and Section 3 (200 marks)

Ireland: Topics 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and
Europe and the wider world: Topics 1, 3, 4, 5, 6.
Answer one question from each of two topics.

The 2021 examination papers were adjusted to compensate for disruptions to learning due to COVID-19. This examination paper does not necessarily reflect the same structure and format as the examination papers of past or subsequent years.

SECTION 1: DOCUMENTS-BASED QUESTION

Europe and the wider world: Topic 2
Religion and power: politics in the later sixteenth century, 1567-1609

Case study to which the documents relate:
The Jesuit mission in China

Study the documents opposite and answer the questions below:

1. (a) How was the house built by the priests from Macao used, according to document A?

   (b) In document A, what punishment would face the priests from Macao if they were found guilty?

   (c) What journey had been made by the stage-players in document B?

   (d) What were two ways in which the stage-players ridiculed Christians/Europeans in document B?

   (20)

2. (a) Do both documents show suspicion of the Jesuits? Give reasons for your answer, referring to both documents.

   (b) In which document are the Jesuits shown to be under greater threat? Give reasons for your answer, referring to both documents.

   (20)

3. (a) In document A, why is Matteo Ricci's journal a valuable historical source? Make detailed reference to document A in your answer.

   (b) To what extent does document B show that Chinese attitudes towards Christians/Europeans differed greatly? Make detailed reference to the document in your answer.

   (20)

4. To what extent was the Jesuit mission in China successful?

   (40)

- Document A -

This is an edited extract from Matteo Ricci's journal in which he recalls charges made against the Jesuit mission which led to its expulsion from Zhaoqing.

The Chinese believed that there had come from Macao a number of foreign priests who had built a house which was used for spying for the Portuguese on everything that went on in China. The Fathers, who were people of great intelligence, employed various tricks in order to get the local people to follow them.

It was alleged that the priests preached a strange religion, and that every day they made use of new lies in order to deceive the poorer classes. They discussed all sorts of doctrine and books, and erected in public a bell that chimed by itself. Consequently, by day and night, people flocked to their house.

The Governor of Zhaoqing commanded that an investigation take place. If it was discovered that the Fathers were guilty of spying on and lying to the Chinese people, then they should be returned immediately to Macao or transferred to the Buddhist temple at Nanhuasi where there were more than a thousand people who worshipped idols.

- Document B -

In this edited extract from his journal, Matteo Ricci tells of events in Shaozhou.

Certain stage players came from Macao to Shaozhou. They painted posters and put on shows ridiculing everything which the Chinese disliked about Europeans. Some of the signs were vulgar and provoked laughter by making fun of the Europeans' short costumes.

In finding fault with those who followed Christianity they depicted Europeans saying the rosary in church and wearing swords in their belts. They drew caricatures of men adoring God on only one knee and of men fighting a duel. Also, they noted the European way in which women were present at ceremonies with men, which the Chinese hate. In fact they omitted nothing that would ridicule Christianity.

However, all the Magistrates supported the Jesuit mission. A few days later, on the same street and in front of the place where the actors were carrying on their anti-Christian antics, Father Nicolo happened to meet one of the most prominent of the Magistrates. The Magistrate got out of his chair, on which he was carried by porters, and greeted Father Nicolo with ceremony and politeness. Another Magistrate did honour to Father Nicolo, at the same place, by accompanying him as he walked along the street.

Source: Both documents are from L. J. Gallagher, China in the Sixteenth Century: The Journals of Matthew Ricci: 1583-1610 (New York, 1953).

SECTION 2: IRELAND

Ireland: Topic 1

Reform and Reformation in Tudor Ireland, 1494-1558

Answer one of the following questions:

1. How important was the deputyship of Sir Edward Poynings? (100)
2. To what extent did religious change take place in Ireland during the reigns of Henry VIII and Edward VI? (100)
3. Why did Queen Mary I adopt a policy of plantation and how successful was the plantation of Laois/Offaly by the end of her reign (1558)? (100)
4. From your study of society and economy, 1494-1558, what did you learn about two of the following: towns and guilds; internal markets; imports and exports; women and marriage under Gaelic law? (100)

Ireland: Topic 2

Rebellion and conquest in Elizabethan Ireland, 1558-1603

Answer one of the following questions:

1. How did Dublin and the Pale change during the reign of Elizabeth I? (100)
2. How was the Desmond Rebellion put down and how successful was the Plantation of Munster? (100)
3. How do you account for Hugh O'Neill's early successes and eventual failure in the Nine Years' War? (100)
4. From your study of culture and religion, 1558-1603, what did you learn about two of the following: Tadhg Dall Ó hUiginn; Meiler Magrath's clerical career; re-establishment of the Reformation under Elizabeth I? (100)

Ireland: Topic 3

Kingdom v. colony – the struggle for mastery in Ireland, 1603-1660

Answer one of the following questions:

1. How effective were the religious and plantation policies of James I? (100)
2. Why was there a revolt against the government in Ireland in 1641 and what did you learn about it from your study of the depositions of 1641? (100)
3. What were the main characteristics of Cromwell's campaign in Ireland, and to what extent was Ireland changed by Cromwell's actions here? (100)
4. From your study of culture and religion, 1603-1660, what did you learn about two of the following: Keating's Foras Feasa; Louvain; Archbishop Rinuccini? (100)

Ireland: Topic 4

Establishing a colonial ascendancy, 1660-1715

Answer one of the following questions:

1. To what extent were Irish Catholics' hopes of better treatment fulfilled during the reigns of Charles II and James II, 1660-1688? (100)
2. What were key social and economic developments in Restoration Dublin? (100)
3. During the period 1660-1715, what were the fortunes of Irish trade? (100)
4. What did you learn about two of the following: Patrick Sarsfield; Tories and Rapparees; the Jacobite poets? (100)

Ireland: Topic 5

Colony versus kingdom – tensions in mid-18th century Ireland, 1715-1770

Answer one of the following questions:

1. What did the Ponsonbys contribute to the 'Protestant Nation'? (100)
2. What were the grievances of the Whiteboys and how effective were their attempts to seek redress? (100)
3. What was the contribution of Charles Lucas and/or Arthur Guinness to Irish affairs? (100)
4. From your study of culture and religion, 1715-1770, what did you learn about two of the following: Turlough O'Carolan; na Cúirteanna Filíochta; the trial of Father Sheehy? (100)

Ireland: Topic 6

The end of the Irish kingdom and the establishment of the Union, 1770-1815

Answer one of the following questions:

1. How effective was the contribution to Irish affairs of Henry Grattan? (100)
2. How did Ireland's trade and economy develop during the period 1770-1815? (100)
3. What was controversial about the Wexford Rebellion and its suppression and/or the passing of the Act of Union? (100)
4. What was the importance of two of the following: Fr. Arthur O'Leary; Nano Nagle; Maynooth College? (100)

SECTION 3: EUROPE AND THE WIDER WORLD

Europe and the wider world: Topic 1
Europe from Renaissance to Reformation, 1492-1567

Answer one of the following questions:

1. How did the discovery of the New World affect Europe in general and Seville in particular? (100)
2. What was the distinctive contribution to the Renaissance of Niccolò Machiavelli and/or Pieter Breughel the Elder? (100)
3. Why did the Reformation begin in the German states and why was it only a partial success? (100)
4. From your study of politics and administration, 1492-1567, what did you learn about two of the following: the union of Castile and Aragon; the divorce of Henry VIII and Catherine of Aragon; Charles V and the struggle against the Turks? (100)

Europe and the wider world: Topic 3
The eclipse of Old Europe, 1609-1660

Answer one of the following questions:

1. What steps were taken by Cardinal Richelieu to promote the absolute power of the Crown? (100)
2. During the period 1609-1660, to what extent was there a "military revolution", with particular reference to the Thirty Years War? (100)
3. During the period 1609-1660, what significant developments took place in two of the following: music; art; science? (100)
4. From your study of society and economy, 1609-1660, what did you learn about two of the following: women, work and family; "witch-hunting"; the Dutch empire in Asia? (100)

Europe and the wider world: Topic 4
Europe in the age of Louis XIV, 1660-1715

Answer one of the following questions:

1. In the France of Louis XIV what was the importance of two of the following: Sébastien le Prestre de Vauban; the Huguenots; the court of Versailles? (100)
2. Why did Peter the Great develop the Streltsy and how did he extend the frontiers of Russia? (100)
3. How did trading companies such as the (English) East India Company and/or the development of the money market contribute to social and economic change, 1660-1715? (100)
4. What was the contribution to science of Isaac Newton and/or Gottfried Wilhelm Leibnitz? (100)

Europe and the wider world: Topic 5

Establishing empires, 1715-1775

Answer one of the following questions:

1. Do you think that Frederick the Great deserved his title? Argue your case. (100)
2. During the period 1715-1775, how did both diplomacy and military planning develop in Europe? (100)
3. How did one or more of the following contribute to the communication of ideas: Denis Diderot; Jean Jacques Rousseau; Benjamin Franklin? (100)
4. From your study of society and economy, 1715-1775, what did you learn about two of the following: mercantilism and laissez-faire; road and canal building; how the West Indian slave plantations contributed to international trade? (100)

Europe and the wider world: Topic 6

Empires in revolution, 1775-1815

Answer one of the following questions:

1. What important changes took place in France between the outbreak of revolution in 1789 and the execution of Louis XVI in 1793? (100)
2. During the period 1775-1815, what social and economic changes were brought about by the agricultural and industrial revolutions? (100)
3. Did Napoleon preserve or betray the ideals of the French Revolution? Argue your case. (100)
4. During the period 1775-1815, how did cultural nationalism develop in Europe? (100)

Blank Page